Headline:
Warm over the weekend but nights staying chilly.

Today:
A cold start but soon warming up in another fine and dry day, although a touch cooler than previous days. Hazy sunshine will gradually become brighter through the afternoon as high cloud gradually drifts away. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
A chilly evening with clear skies, but remaining fine and dry. Cold overnight with a few pockets of frost by dawn. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Sunday:
After a chilly start with frost for some, it will soon warm up with prolonged sunny spells between occasional patchy cloud. Dry and feeling rather warm locally. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloudier but dry on Monday before rain moves in overnight to become rather showery on Tuesday. Drier on Wednesday. Initially warm but turning cooler with a continued overnight frost risk.
